About the Author :

With Malice Toward One, is Mike Person's first graphic novel. My goal with this novel, is to make learning about History a new and exciting experience for children. Children are visual. I believe children learn much more, when they can make a picture in their minds of what they are reading. I know. I was a child once: Mike Person currently lives in Elgin, IL with his beautiful wife Krisi and three wonderful boys.

New "Graphic History" Novel proves to Children, that there was much more to the Assassination story than they learned in the classroom.

30 Jan 2014 / Elgin, IL :

With Malice Toward One, a graphic novel by Mike Person, takes a new approach. Combining the storytelling of a short thrilling novel with the sequential artwork found in comics and graphic novels to create a new learning experience that appeals to children and adults. Each page of prose is recreated on the opposite page in storyboard imagery to reinforce what was just read. Leaving a lasting visual effect that a child can understand and appreciate.

Abraham Lincoln once said, " A comedy is best played; a tragedy is best read at home."

At 10:15 PM, April 14, 1865; the 16th President of the United States was murdered while viewing a comedy at Ford's Theatre. Ironically, his assassin was John Wilkes Booth. A famous stage actor, best known for performing tragedies.

John Wilkes Booth once said, "of all the Shakespearean characters, my favorite role is Brutus - the slayer of a tyrant."

"WE ARE PLEASED TO ANNOUNCE A UNIQUE CHILDREN'S BOOK ON THE LINCOLN ASSASSINATION, WHICH WILL ALSO FASCINATE ADULTS WHO WERE RAISED IN THE CLASSIC COMICS ERA," - The Surratt Courier

"A GREAT HISTORY EXPERIENCE WHICH PROVES ONCE AGAIN THAT HISTORY IS COOL AND NOT JUST ABOUT DEAD PEOPLE AND DATES!" - Betty Ownsbey
author of Alias "Paine": Lewis Thornton Powell, the Mystery Man of the Lincoln Conspiracy
